BRUCE ADAMS

Bruce became a professional musician in his teens, gaining vast experience working with big bands and on the jazz scene all over Europe. He has won many top trumpet awards along the way, and is an international star.

MARK NIGHTINGALE

Mark is a world class trombonist with numerous awards – the first being the Don Lusher Award at the age of fifteen. He is highly respected as an international soloist, session musician, composer and arranger. He has worked with many of the jazz greats including Cleo Laine and the late Sir John Dankworth.

JOHN HALLAM

John is a fluent and supremely sensitive player, being versatile on a range of saxophones and clarinet in a variety of styles. His music is both lyrical and innovative.

THE TOM KINCAID TRIO

Tom is an exceptionally talented pianist who has developed a swinging piano style along with his versatile drummer and bass player.
